ABSTRACT

The Acquisitions List of demographic books and articles is issued every two months by the Katharine Dexter McCormick Library. Divided into two parts, the first contains a list of books most recently acquired by the Library, each one annotated and also marked with the Library call number. The second part consists of a list of annotated articles, classified according to the Planned Parenthood-World Population (PPWP) Coding System, which have been selected from the 150 scientific and professional journals received by the Library. The purpose of the list is to assist PPWP Affiliates and other organizations in easily arranging their informational materials in a systematic scheme. A form for ordering xeroxed copies of articles is included. (BL)

Acquisitions List No. 39
October 1971

The Acquisitions List, issued every two months, is divided into two sections as follows:

- Part I: a list of the books most recently acquired by the Library, each one annotated, and also marked with its Library call number, to aid libraries which use the Library's classification system.
- Part II: a list of annotated articles, selected from the 150 scientific and professional journals the Library receives, and classified according to the Library's FAMILY PLANNING CLASSIFICATION.

The purpose of the Acquisitions List is to assist PPWP Affiliates and other organizations in easily arranging their information materials, both book and non-book, in a systematic scheme so that the information contained therein can be gotten at handily when needed.

For the convenience of those who want to order Xeroxed copies of the articles in the monthly Acquisition List of the Katharine Dexter McCormick Library an order blank is now provided on the last pages of the List. Please use when ordering.

To reimburse the Library for the cost of Xeroxing, please include the payment of 10¢ a page. You can figure the total cost from the number of pages of each article, which is given on the Order Page.

Books must be ordered from publishers; addresses are provided at end of book list.

Part I: BOOKS

ABORTION

- 2.31 ABORTION AND THE UNWANTED CHILD, The California Committee on R4 Therapeutic Abortion, edited by Carl Reiterman. N.Y.:Springer, a 1971. 181 pp. $4.95 pap. A survey of the fate of children born after their mothers were refused therapeutic abortions is included in this volume which brings together papers delivered at the California Conference on Abortion-San Francisco, May 9-11, 1969. Also included is an analysis of new laws governing abortion in 13 states of the U.S.

HUMAN REPRODUCTION & MEDICINE

- 2.6 ENDOCRINOLOGY OF PREGNANCY, Fritz Fuchs and Arnold Klopfer, eds.
F8 N.Y.:Harper & Row, 1971. 359 pp. $15.00. A comprehensive review e of the endocrine systems of the mother which undergo specific changes during pregnancy.
- 2.6 TEXTBOOK OF ANATOMY, W. Henry Hollinshead. N.Y.:Harper & Row, 2nd H5.5 ed. 1967. 994 pp. $27.50.
t
- 2.6 MAXCY-ROSENAU PREVENTIVE MEDICINE AND PUBLIC HEALTH, Philip E.

p $24.50. A small encyclopedia of public health subjects. Useful for reference.
- 2.6 TEXTBOOK OF ENDOCRINOLOGY, Robert H. Williams, ed. Phila.:Saunders, W6 1968. 4th ed. 1258 pp. $24.00. A collection of studies concerned t with normal and abnormal endocrine functions and the diagnosis and therapy of endocrinopathies.

GENETICS

- 2.62 UTOPIAN MOTHERHOOD; NEW TRENDS IN HUMAN REPRODUCTION, Robert T.
F7 Francoeur. N.Y.:Doubleday, 1970. 278 pp. $6.95. An examination of u the current revolution in the field of experimental embryology (i.e. frozen sperm cells, artificial wombs, embryo transplants, genetic engineering and asexual cloning) and how it has modified man's past view of sexuality.

- 2.62      FABRICATED MAN; THE ETHICS OF GENETIC CONTROL, Paul Ramsey. New R3      Haven, Conn.:Yale Univ. Press, 1970. 174 pp. $7.50. Problems that f      have developed due to our increased knowledge of chromosome structure that has taken the alteration of the human race out of the realm of science fiction and placed it in the hands of laboratory scientists.
- 2.62      BRAVE NEW BABY, David M. Rorvik. Garden City, N.Y.:Doubleday, 1971.
R6.2      202 pp. $5.95. Describes the medical, legal and moral problems of b      genetic engineering, asexual reproduction, test-tube babies and even a mechanical body for a human brain.
- 2.62      THE SECOND GENESIS: THE COMING CONTROL OF LIFE, Albert Rosenfeld.
R6.3      Englewood Cliffs, N.J.:Prentice-Hall, 1969. 327 pp. $6.95. Diss      cusses our entrance into a science-fiction world of artificial breeding, psychochemicals and cybernetics--a whole new bio-technical environment that will have an overwhelming impact on the very fundamentals of religion, philosophy, law, sex, morality, and the conduct of our daily lives.

GENETIC COUNSELING

- 2.62.1      ESSENTIALS OF MEDICAL GENETICS, Charles G. Crispens, Jr. N.Y.: C8      Harper, 1971. 202 pp. Designed to equip the medical student with e      the knowledge of clinical genetics and to motivate him to use this knowledge in the practice of his profession.

MEDICAL & SOCIAL SERVICES

- 3.1      COMMUNITY HEALTH NURSING PRACTICE, Ruth B. Freeman. Phila., Pa: F8      Saunders, 1970. 414 pp. $7.50. Discusses community health nursing c      as a population-based obligation realized through a multidisciplinary, ecologically oriented effort, utilizing concepts and skills that derive both from generic nursing and from public health practice.

MENTAL HEALTH

- 3.14      PARENTHOOD; ITS PSYCHOLOGY & PSYCHOPATHOLOGY, E. James Anthony and A6      Therese Benedek, eds. Boston:Little Brown, 1970. 617 pp. $15.00. p      Focuses on parenthood in the context of the biologic and environmental evolution of human behavior, not as it relates to a fixed time and place but as a process in continual change.
- 3.14      APPALACHIA'S CHILDREN; THE CHALLENGE OF MENTAL HEALTH, David H. Loeff.
L6      Lexington, Ky.:Univ. of Kentucky, 1971. 185 pp. $7.50. Examines the a      milieu of Southern Appalachian children and their future as adults, and how they develop mental health or psychopathology, suggesting supportive techniques that build upon the strengths inherent in each child.

- 3.14 MOTIVATION AND PERSONALITY, Abraham H. Maslow. N.Y.:Harper & Row, M3 1970. 2nd ed. 369 pp. $5.95. Originally published in 1954 this m new edition includes numerous additions and an extended bibliography, of particular value for graduate courses in motivation and humanistic psychology.

POVERTY

- 3.23 THE STATE OF WELFARE, Gilbert Y. Steiner. Washington, D.C.:Brookings, S7 1971. 346 pp. $3.50 pap. An inquiry into the politics of stability s and of change in public relief policy.

FAMILY PLANNING RESEARCH

- 3.61 REPRODUCTION IN THE UNITED STATES 1965, Norman B. Ryder and Charles F.
W4 Westoff. Princeton, N.J.:Princeton Univ. Press, 1971. 464 pp. $13.50.
r The third in a continuing series of studies of American fertility, this report is concerned with the measurement of all facets of reproductive behavior: the levels of intended and unintended fertility, the use of contraception to delay or terminate childbearing, the effectiveness of fertility regulation, and the extent of subfecundity.

TRAINING AND STAFFING-PROFESSIONALS & PARA-PROFESSIONALS

- 3.75 THE NEW CAREERS CONCEPT: POTENTIAL FOR PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT OF THE POOR, H3 Mark A. Haskell. N.Y.:Praeger, 1969. 115 pp. $10.00 Recommends ren designing jobs to fit the limited abilities of workers with few skills, on-the-job training combined with formal education and a structure of job ladders to enable workers to move to better jobs as ability and skills permit.

POPULATION

5. THE CASE FOR COMPULSORY BIRTH CONTROL, Edgar R. Chasteen, Englewood C5.1 Cliffs, N.J.:Prentice-Hall, 1971. 230 pp. $5.95. The population c explosion--and what the author thinks must be done to overcome it.
5. READINGS IN HUMAN POPULATION ECOLOGY, Wayne H. Davis, ed. Englewood D3 Cliffs, N.J.:Prentice-Hall, 1971. 251 pp. A collection of articles r presenting varied and opposing opinions concerning uncontrolled population growth.
5. RAPID POPULATION GROWTH; CONSEQUENCES AND POLICY IMPLICATIONS, N3.2 National Academy of Sciences. Baltimore:Johns Hopkins, 1971. r 768 pp. $20.00; ($2.45 pap. contains Vol. I. only). Consists of two sections-Vol.I, an overview, relates the technical findings to public policy on population growth and makes specific recommendations for future population control, Vol.II contains 17 technical papers by experts on all aspects of population.

POPULATION-ECONOMIC ASPECTS

- 5.4 POPULATION AND ECONOMICS, Paul Deprez, ed. Winnipeg, Canada:Univ. of D4 Manitoba Press, 1970. 364 pp. Proceedings of Section V (Historical p Demography) of the Fourth Congress of the International Economic History Association held at Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana, Sept. 9-14, 1968.

MARRIAGE

7. A DOCTOR SPEAKS ON SEXUAL EXPRESSION IN MARRIAGE, Donald W. Hastings.
H3 Boston:Little, Brown, 1971. 2nd ed. 190 pp. $6.95. For adults who d engage in married sexual relationships.
1971
7. MARRIAGE AND WORK IN AMERICA; A STUDY OF MOTIVES AND ROLES, Joseph V4 Veroff and Sheila Feld. N.Y.:Van Nostrand Reinhold, 1970. 404 pp. m $9.00. Based on a national study of the motives for affiliation, achievement and power and their effect on a person's behavior in respect to marriage, parenthood and work.

SEXUAL BEHAVIOR

- 7.3 THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A MAN AND A WOMAN, Theo Lang. N.Y.:Day, 1971.
L3 413 pp. $9.50. A chronological account of the egg, the sperm, d fertilization, prenatal life, infancy and puberty and continuing on to a discussion of the bodies, minds, habits and sexual attitudes of adult men and women.
- 7.3 HUMAN SEXUAL BEHAVIOR; VARIATIONS IN THE ETHNOGRAPHIC SPECTRUM, M2.5 edited by Donald S. Marshall & Robert C. Suggs. N.Y.:Basic, 1971.
h 302 pp. $10.00. Anthropological descriptions of sexual behavior and attitudes in a series of societies which run the gamut of sexuality from extreme social inhibition to extreme permissiveness, indicating the power of society to govern the expression of a physiological imperative.

SEX EDUCATION

- 7.32 SEX EDUCATION--THE SCHOOLS AND THE CHURCHES, Harold W. Minor, M5 Joseph B. Myskens and Margaret Newell Alexander. Richmond, Va.:
s John Knox 1971. 80 pp. $1.95 pap. A Study/Action Guide concerned with the issue of sex education and the attacks centered against these programs in the public schools.

SEX EDUCATION BOOKS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

- 7.32.1 SEX IS NEVER AN EMERGENCY, Elaine C. Pierson. Phila.:J.B. Lippincott, P4.5 1971. 2nd ed. 56 pp. 95¢ pap. A candid guide for Univ. of s Pennsylvania) college students.
- 7.32.1 A TEENAGER'S GUIDE TO LIFE AND LOVE, Benjamin Spock. N.Y.:Simon & S 6.3 Schuster, 1970. 190 pp. $4.95. Addressed to boys and girls on the t questions and problems that confront them in their sexual, social and emotional involvement with their peers.

EDUCATION IN FAMILY PLANNING FOR M.D.'s

- 8.11 INTRAUTERINE DEVICES FOR CONTRACEPTION; THE I.U.D., Hugh J. Davis.
D2 Foreword by George Langmyhr. Baltimore:Williams & Wilkins, 1971.
i 210 pp. $12.50. Written especially for physicians to create better understanding of intrauterine contraception and thus to contribute to an improvement of birth control services.

Gastro- Ischaemic Colitis and the Contraceptive Pill Intesti- British Medical Journal, no. 5765, July 3. 1971, pp. 27-28
nal
Reports a typical attack of ischaemic colitis occurring in a woman taking the contraceptive pill and discusses the possible causative relationship.
- 233) 2.11.13 EISALO, A. et al
Oral Contraceptives after Liver Disease
British Medical Journal, no. 5774, September 4, 1971, pp. 561-562.
Administration of oral contraceptives to 10 women was started two weeks after the normalization of the serum enzyme activities in the convalescent period of viral hepatitis, and to five women eight weeks after an operation of obstructive jaundice. Routine liver function tests were performed at intervals of two weeks for two to three months. The liver function tests stayed within normal limits during the follow-up period.
- 234) 2.11.13 PRENEN, M. and LEDOUX-CORBUSIER, M.
Derma- Hormonal Contraceptives and Dermatology tology Contraception, vol. 4, no. 2, August 1971, pp. 79-89.
The effects of oral contraceptives on various dermatologic aspects are discussed including chloasma, facial hypertrichosis, seborrhic alopecia and acne.

Meta- Studies of Ethynodiol Diacetate and Mestranol on Blood Glucose and bolic Plasma Insulin I. Six Month Oral Glucose Tolerance Test
International Journal of Fertility, vol. 16, no. 2, April-June 1971, pp. 55-65

Blood glucose and plasma insulin levels were measured during oral glucose tolerance test in 148 women. Each was tested before and after six months of using a combination type oral contraceptive containing ethynodiol diacetate and mestranol. There were significant elevations of both the glucose and insulin values for the "normal" woman, but those with initial abnormal metabolism did not demonstrate these changes. The only other significant factor related to the elevations of glucose and insulin elevations was the amount of weight gained while using the drug.

- 2.11.13 SPELLACY, W.N. et al
Vaginal Yeast Growth and Contraceptive Practices Obstetrics and Gynecology, vol. 38, no. 3, September 1971,
pp. 343-349.

The results of a 12-months prospective study and also a cross-sectional study of vaginal cultures for yeast in women using a variety of contraceptive methods. The differences in the incidence of positive yeast culture was not significant. No relationship was noted between changes in weight or in blood glucose or plasma insulin levels measured during oral glucose tolerance tests in women who developed a positive yeast culture as compared to those who did not.

- 2.11.13 STOKES, T. and WYNN, V.
Serum-Lipids in Women on Oral Contraceptives
The Lancet, no. 7726, September 25, 1971, pp. 677-681

Elevated mean fasting serum-triglyceride levels were found in women on all o.c. preparations, the effect being greater with increasing estrogen content. With the combined o.c., raised values of mean fasting serum-cholesterol were found. The most estrogenic pills gave the highest triglyceride values, and the most progestational gave the highest cholesterol values.

238)

- 2.11.14 SHERMAN, R.P.
Amenorrhea Prolonged Secondary Amenorrhea After Oral Contraceptive Therapy
The Lancet, no. 7715, July 10, 1971, pp. 64-66

Clinical data are presented on 69 patients with secondary amenorrhea of more than 12 months' duration developing after treatment with oral contraceptives. 2 appeared to have a premature menopause; in the remainder the level of disturbance was apparently the hypothalamus.

239)

- 2.11.15 HERZBERG, Brenda N. et al
Oral Contraceptives, Depression, and Libido
British Medical Journal, August 28, 1971, pp. 495-500.

Depression, headaches, and libido were rated in 272 women before starting a contraceptive method and at intervals during the first year of use-- 54 were fitted with an IUD, and 218 used one of three oral contraceptives. Side effects caused 25% of the oral contraceptive group and 13% of the IUD group to stop the method.

240)

- 2.11.15 SABOUR, M.A. and FADEL, H.E.
Hypertension and the Oral Contraceptives International Journal of Gynecology and Obstetrics, vol. 9, no. 4, July 1971 pp. 129-132.

Nineteen patients developed hypertension after prolonged use of oral contraceptives. Seventeen became normotensive when the pills were discontinued. The other two had chronic pyelonephritis. Hypertension, or chronic renal disease, even without hypertension, should be included among other contraindications to the use of hormonal contraceptives.

IUD's

Immediate Postpartum IUD Insertion
Obstetrics and Gynecology, vol. 38, no. 2, August 1971, pp. 276-285.

At a large urban-based clinic, an intrauterine device was inserted into 7172 patients within the first week of delivery. Inserting the device during the immediate postpartum period proved to be safe and effective, and allowed acceptance of contraception at a time of high motivation.

242)

- 2.12.1 LEVENTHAL, J.M., SIMON L.R., and SHAPIRO, S.S.
Laparoscopic Removal of Intrauterine Contraceptive Devices Following Uterine Perforation
American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology, vol. 111, no. 1, Sept. 1, 1971 pp. 102-105.

A new procedure for visualizing and removing an intraperitoneal IUCD with the use of subumbilical laparoscopy, had proved to be safe, reliable, and associated with negligible morbidity.

243)

2.12.1

MOYER, Dean L. and MISHELL, Daniel R.
Reactions of Human Endometrium to the Intrauterine Foreign Body
American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology, vol. 111, no. 1, Sept. 1, 1971 pp. 66-80

The intrauterine device produces a foreign body reaction in an area crucial for the viability and metabolism of unimplanted blastocyst and the ascending sperm. After intrauterine foreign body insertion, hysterectomy specimens from 167 patients and endometrial biopsies from 202 women were studied histologically. These tissue specimens were obtained at intervals ranging from a few hours until 5 years after insertion. It is postulated that sterile tissue reaction in the endometrial cavity is the main causative factor for the contraceptive effect of the IUD in the human female. This study revealed no evidence of a carcinogenic effect on the endometrium in association with an IUD.

LAW, Barbara
Barrier Methods
Medical Gynecology and Sociology, vol. 5, no. 5, 1971, pp. 18-21.

Barrier contraceptive methods (condom, diaphragm, etc.) are extremely valuable, harmless to the health and highly efficient when used correctly by couples who are well motivated and who find them acceptable. It is therefore essential that their use is fully understood and that the technique of their prescription is of such a standard that they can be offered in such a way that they can be used to the maximum of their effectiveness.

The experience of the first eight months under the new law in New York City is reviewed. Residents of New York City are having abortions performed at an annual rate of 360 per 1,000 live births, and with every acceptable mortality rates (8 per 100,000) hospital-based abortions and morbidity rates. It appears from the initial experience reported that the law is working well.

2.33.1

MURRAY, S. and BARRON, S.L.

Rhesus Isoimmunization after Abortion

British Medical Journal, no. 5766, July 10, 1971. pp. 90-92

RH antibodies were detected in only 9 out of 96 RH(D)-negative patients successfully followed-up after spontaneous or therapeutic abortion. The prophylactic use of anti-D immunoglobulin is now recommended for RH-negative non-immunized patients undergoing abortion, but the dose could be less than 75 mcg. The Kleihauer test was of no value in predicting the risk of isoimmunization.

Culdos- Evaluation of Peridural Anesthesia in Outpatient Culdoscopy

copy

American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology, vol. 108, no. 3, Oct. 1, 1970, pp. 468-70.

The value of epidural anesthesia for culdoscopy has already been demonstrated. This investigation is designed to show the value of this technique as an outpatient anesthesia in the face of rising hospital costs and shortage of hospital beds.

American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology, vol. 111, no. 1, Sept. 1, 1971, pp. 108-110.

Fourteen multiparous women underwent tubal sterilization by the introduction of 0.2 ml. of 10 per cent silver nitrate in hydrophilic ointment injected retrograde via the tubal fimbria at culdoscopy. All tubes were closed at subsequent hystero-graphy. Side effects were mild and probably related to the route of application of the medication

Injecta- Use of Injectable Contraceptive Immediately Post Partum
bles New York State Journal of Medicine, vol. 71, no. 119, October 1, 1971, pp. 2279-82.

An intramuscular injection of medroxyprogesterone acetate (Depo-Provera) was given to 86 women immediately post partum and every three months thereafter. A second group of 30 women received oral contraceptive pills. There were no pregnancies in either group. In spite of a significantly higher incidence of spotting and amenorrhea with the injections, only 9 per cent of patients discontinued this form of contraception as compared with a dropout rate of 23 per cent of patients on the pill. Side-effects other than spotting were minimal in both groups.

Critical Issues in the Use of Physicians Associates and Assistants.
American Journal of Public Health, vol. 61, no. 9, September 1971,
pp. 1765-79.

Explores problems in delegating aspects of the physician's work to others. The relative merits of using assistants vs. associates is discussed in terms of productivity, legal issues, role relationships and training programs. also considered are the quality of care and its evaluation, future manpower pools, and consumer acceptance.

Doctors American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology, vol. 111, no. 1, x8.14 Sept. 1, 1971 pp. 111-118.

Findings indicate that Maryland physicians generally have negative attitudes toward the nurse-midwife's ability to provide services which require the greatest degree of technical competence and are most professional while they are favorable toward many other tasks which complete the spectrum of medical care. The most favorable attitudes were held by those who have had prior positive experience with nurse-midwives, perceive a shortage of obstetrics services in their local community, or have had experience with nurse-midwives during their residency training.

x3.1 Rural Health Care Systems
Journal of the American Medical Association, vol. 216, no. 10, June 7, 1971, pp. 1623-36

For rural health needs, we must begin with an infusion of adequate incomes, health facilities, and manpower. Planning agencies need to take stock of all resources and weld them into health systems that make optimal use of all the components.

- 3.25 FONTANA, Vincent J.
The Diagnosis of the Maltreatment Syndrome in Children
New York Medicine, vol. 27, no. 9, September 1971. pp. 320-322.

Fundamentally, child abuse laws are only the first step in the protection of the abused or neglected child. It is what happens after the reporting that is of utmost importance. A multidisciplinary network of protection should be developed in each community to implement the good intentions of child abuse laws.

Measures aimed at preventing conception in the 15-20 per cent of the population that require counseling and supportive services must not only include technological advice, but also must be geared to helping these women find alternate modes of gratification to replace that of the reproductive process.

Social Attitude Clusters in Birth Control Counseling by Social Workers Workers American Journal of Public Health, vol. 61, no. 9, September 1971
x8.13 pp. 1832-39

A study is reported of 941 social workers who answered a questionnaire on birth control counseling. Eleven person-types were delineated in terms of demographic and professional attributes as well as their knowledge, values and practice in birth control counseling. Implications for training are suggested.

RETENTION

Continuation of Contraception by Low Income Women: A One Year Follow-Up
American Journal of Public Health, vol. 61, no. 9, September, 1971
pp. 1886-1898.

Data indicate that the pill is a relatively ineffective method if long-term contraception is to be achieved by socio-economically and culturally disadvantaged couples. Advances in contraceptive technology, abortion, and reversible sterilization all seem necessary to assist low income couples in realizing the fertility regulation they desire.

Three Patterns of Seasonality in American Births
American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology, vol. 110, no. 7, August 1, 1971, pp. 1025-1028.

Seasonal variation in the numbers of live births in the United States increased in amplitude during the 1940's, remained high throughout the 1950's, and then declined again. This changing pattern of amplitude correlates very significantly with the pattern of over-all fertility when examined during 1933-1970. Monthly fertility rates and monthly sex ratios correlated very significantly when fertility lags behind sex ratio by 2 months. This second correlation points to the possible usefulness of applying to the study of fertility whatever information exists about the sex ratio and vice versa.
